

I oppose the FCC's proposal which would weaken the regulations on media ownership. It is clear that we already have too much concentration of ownership across the media. We can see the effects on the quality and content of what is aired or on the internet. There is definately less diversity, fewer outlets to explore news, culture, abd varied points of view. There is a blandness and at the same time baseness to programs now offered. De-regulation is purely profit driven to benefit an ever smaller group of corporations. They have little incentive to air quality programs at an affordable price as it is. We need more voices, not fewer. That is what democracy is about.
